MEDICINAL.

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bills it to natural purestive of the it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headsche, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MER-RELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown, dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepatine in accordance with directions. Headsche is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given. Take no pills when you can get given. Take no pills when you can get Hepatine at the same price. For sale by all Druzgists. PRICE 25c and Si.

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all disesses that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Serofula, Syphilis, White Swalling, Ulcorous Sores and Skin Disease in a thousand is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. Doctor PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA or QUERN'S DELIGIT is the only medicine upon which a hope of recovery from Scrotata, Syphilis and Mercurial diseases in all stages, can be reasonably founded, and that will cure Cancer. $10,000 will be paid by the proprietors if Mercury, or any ingredient not purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it. Reminiscences.

It is well known from history that in the days of the Revolution the King of England fired from the King of Hessa men to come here to fight against the Americans. They were called Hesians. Before they came over the fly in wheat was not known here. They were brought here in the straw beds, and were thu; called Hessian Flics. Many of those men never returned to their own native country, but remained among us. They were industrious and thrifty; raised up respectable families. I remember seme of them myself, and know they were good, honest citizens.

Jacob Heinaman, who bought property from Mr. John West, fived in the house now occupied by Mr. John T. Hunter, near the Stone bridge, in Fairfax county, Va. This property was bought from Mr. West in the year 1804, and I presume the house was built by Heinaman. I remember the old man well. He and man. I remember the old man well. He and my father were quite intimate. He was cale-brated for his wonderful yarns.

'Tis said he was often pitted against others as to spinning yarns. The manner his friends would get him into it was, they would bet oysier suppers, &c., on his great abilities in that lice. The supper was prepared on a ger tain evening, and Heinsman invited as one of the guests, he not knowing that it was a put up job, and the other side leading off to start H. When he got under way he proved himseif a perfect Guiver, and never was beaten.

I remember on one occasion my father and I were coming from Alexandria; we called to see the old man; he exquired the news, &s. The steeple on the market house was near comple tion at that time, and it was much talked about, as it was a wonderful thing for old Alexandria at that day to have so tall a steeple. & J. My father remarked that the bell had arrived; and a splendid one it was; weighing so much, how much I now forget. Heinaman listened pa tiently to the news, and when my father got through he remarked, "Friend Lewis, you may through he remarked. Triend Diwis, you have think that a heavy, nice bell, but my father's bull in the old country were a larger bell on his neck." This was said without a smile ou his part. I thought it wonderful, and asked my father if that could be possible. My father laughed and said Heinaman is great for his yares. My brother in law, Moses Kenney, was an apprentice to Heinaman to learn the butch-crieg business, and while learning that business he had to make himself generally useful, such as mill boy, &z. Heinaman thought there was no man equal to Gen. George Washington. All the stock tit for market, such as lambs, veals, &c., was bought by him from the General, and he, the General, thought a great deal of Hei naman for his honest, equare dealing. To favor Washington, as he, II., thought, he used to send his grain all the way to Washington's mill to be ground. Whether Stump & Beck et's mill, was established at Cameron Run in those day I am not informed, but I presume there were other mills nearer than the Gen eral's on Dogue Creek. However distance was nothing with II.; he determined to patronize the great and good man of the Nation. My brother in law, as I have stated, was the mil-boy. He has often teld me about Washington; what anoble man he was &1, &c. He had often seen him, but never came in close contse with him, until one day, coming or going to the mill that day Kenney had his gun and dog with him (he used to shoot equirrels on the road side.) Soon as he saw Washington, he felt scared, as he heard that Washington took the guns away from those found shooting on his land. However he was bemmed in and had to kindly, asking him who's little man ho was. I am Mr. H's. little man. How is the old gen tleman, &c., &c. While they were talking the dog barked near by. Said Washingtor: Is that your dog? (whether Kenney had ever heard about the little hatchet, I am not advised; how ever, be that as it may, he was cornered and had to tell the truth). Yes, sir, he has treed a squirrel. Are you seing to shoot it? I will by your permissioe. Washington smiled, and said I grant it; will tide with you and see, you shoot. When they got to the tree they found three in the same tree, after the hickory nuts. Kenney remarked to the General, you had bet ter get dawn, your boise will scare. Never mind, shoot away. Kenney said he took di-liberate aim, and down came the equirals; ha was lucky to hill all three. Washington praised him for his skill, and said he would make a good soldier. Now, sold he, my lut'e man you may shoot the tqurre's when you thick proper, but don't shoot at the deer, if you shoot at them, in all probility you wend only cripple them, poor things, they would run off and did, and it would be no prefit to you what ever; however I dont want the deer killed, and you must not shoot at them, even to try to kil them. Kenney has frequently told me that he often had chances to shoot the deer, but he could not think of disobeying the great Wast. ington. From my experience and observation I have come to the following conclusion: --If you want to fined out a man's true character you must go where he lives; his neighbors can give the true history. I have in my day met many who knew Washington face to face, and a very large majority say he was nearer per feetion than any man they ever knew; some few pretended to say he was arbitrary, so he was in many cases, he was obliged to act so. Washington was a man that never alowed any one to infringe on his right; he was found of seeing the deer ranging in their native woods and tried to protect those on his own land-nothing would displease him more than for poachers to come on his land and shoot the deer, and had all men been law abiding they could not say that Washington was arbitrary; it he ever did a wrong he was alwyss ready to apologizs, as he did to Colonel Payce. From all the information that I have been able to gather, and that from rich and poor living in his neighborhood, they all agree that he was the great, good man. May his name and deads never be forgotten by the true American citi-FAIRFAX.
